RACISM CUTS BOTH WAYS

■ Dennis Clayton

▲ Most attacks on Whites in Britain are ignored by the liberal media

THESE ARE the gruesome photos that the liars and tricksters of the mainstream national media won't let you see. They expose in sickening detail the brutal anti-white racism that is spreading like a cancer in the former mill towns of Northern England.

Thirty-three-year old Dennis Clayton was walking home with two friends in Roundthorn Road, Oldham, just after midnight on Wednesday 21st June when two car loads of young Asians screeched to a halt beside them.

While his friends managed to escape, Mr. Clayton was savagely beaten with baseball bats and slashed with a knife.

He lost several teeth and suffered severe bruising to his body, as well as a slash through tendons to the bone on his wrist.

Had this blow caught the underside of his wrist it would probably have severed an artery and could easily have resulted in Mr. Clayton's death.

DOUBLE STANDARDS

Det Con Carrie-Ann Crabtree, who is dealing with the police inquiry into the attack, stated: "This was a severe, vicious, unprovoked attack on a defenceless man." Descriptions have been given of several of the anti-white racist thugs, all of whom are described as being in their mid-twenties

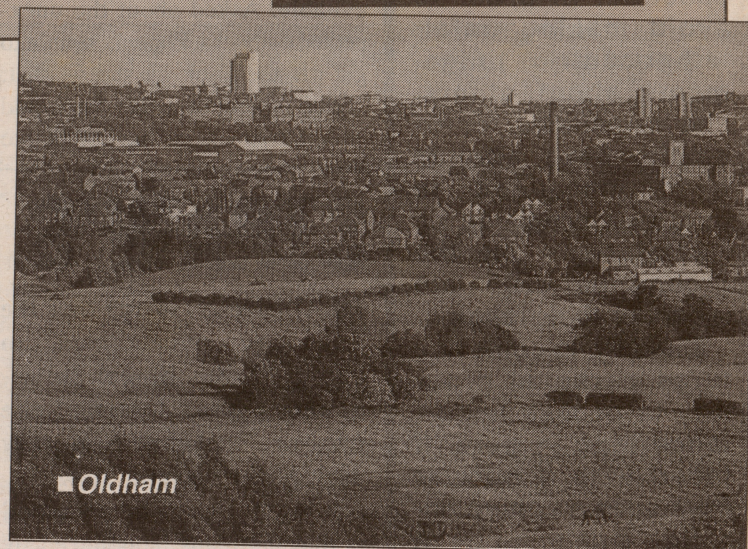

In recent months the national media have given enormous coverage to alleged racial attacks by whites, particularly two incidents where young black or mixed-race men were supposedly sprayed with petrol and set alight, and the assault on Chris Cotter, the one-time boyfriend of black athlete Aysha Hanson.

Yet every single one of these much publicised 'racist incidents' later turned out to be a hoax.

There is no doubt that some racist attacks on non-whites are genuine, and the British National Party condemns them without reservation. We believe that one of the worst results of the failed multiracial experiment is the growth of racial hatred which leads to innocent people being attacked simply for having the wrong colour skin.

But we also condemn the way in which the national media, the politicians and politically correct police chiefs constantly present 'racism' as being something that only hurts blacks and Asians, and deliberately hush up brutal anti-white racist attacks like the attempted murder of Dennis Clayton. The truth is that racism cuts both ways, and that - in places like Oldham - the majority of the victims of racial hatred are white.

The multiracial experiment has failed. The only choice facing the British people is whether to accept the lead of the British National Party and to campaign for the political changes needed to dismantle it peacefully, or whether to imitate the left-wing media ostriches and pretend that the ugly reality of photographs like these will go away if they ignore them.

NOW that magistrates are to have 'racism' tests it surely cannot be long before the principle is extended to the entire population of Britain - apart from those exempted on grounds of being above suspicion.

In practice, that would clearly mean testing all white people of British origins. Why not test every white citizen for racism on a regular basis, rather in the manner of driving licences?

That should not cost more than a few hundred millions a year, and it would then be possible to make citizens who failed the test wear some kind of badge to warn their fellow citizens - rather like the 'L' plates used by learner drivers. There could be grades of badge, perhaps in differing colours depending on the examination mark. The police would, of course, arrest anyone not wearing their badge in public.

As in the case of the magistrates, test candidates would be required to display a knowledge of other cultures. That is obviously essential in order to avoid making unfair 'ethnocentric' judgements about others. The magistrates, for example, have already been instructed to overlook drug use by Rastafarians on the ground that drugs are a part of their religion.

Similarly, in some cultures personal property is of less importance than in ours. If faced with a burglar from such a culture entering one's home it would clearly be quite wrong to expect the arrest of a citizen merely expressing his cultural heritage.

With goodwill, and the introduction of imaginative schemes of this kind, we will soon move the fight against racism forward to heights undreamt of at present, as well as bringing a flood of welcome new business to badge manufacturers.

THROWN ON THE STREETS

Homeless will have to quit hostel to make way for asylum seekers

THIS WAS the headline in the Sunderland Echo on June 2nd. Already angered by various problems caused by asylum seekers, readers were shocked to learn that twenty homeless local people were to be evicted so that the privately owned hostel in Tatham Street could be converted to house 'refugees'.

Local government officials admit that hundreds of asylum seekers have already moved into Sunderland, but say that empty council houses in three estates - Pennywell, Ford and Houghton - are going to be used for some 800 more in the coming months.

Among those made homeless with just one week's notice were pensioners, single mums and vulnerable people with learning difficulties. 'Care in the Community' has been replaced with a policy of "dump them in the streets" as overpaid dogooders and greedy landlords alike join the rush for the asylum seeker trough. The Echo went on to reveal that Home Secretary Jack Straw's policy of dispersing asylum seekers to parts of Britain previously untouched by the wonders of the multiracist experiment has been criticised by the government spending watchdog, the Audit Commission, which has warned that housing asylum seekers in hitherto all-British areas could be a 'disaster' that could raise racial tensions.

In spite of this, the Home Office's National Asylum Support Service is now busy arranging contracts with private landlords and local councils in the twelve regions into which they have divided mainland Britain for their dispersal operation.

Glasgow City Council has already notched up the shameful record of being the first local authority in the country to contract to house asylum seekers, despite having hundreds of young Scots sleeping rough, and thousands more local people living in sub-standard accommodation.

BROKEN PROMISES, BROKEN ECONOMY

WHEN Rover was 'saved' by the Phoenix Consortium, union bosses and Labour politicians alike told workers at the threatened Longbridge plant that they could believe the promise by Phoenix boss John Towers to preserve large volume output at Longbridge. According to Phoenix, Rover would continue to sell 220,000 cars a year.

But in a letter sent recently to suppliers, the company reveals that car production for the second half of this year will fall to less than 52,000 and that 'volume disruption' is inevitable. Asked about the unexpected cutbacks, Phoenix sought to get off the hook by stating that: "John Towers said that we would build a business selling 200,000 to 300,000 units a year. He never said anything about production."

Indeed he didn't, but his carefully chosen words at the time of the takeover bid were clearly designed to make people think he was promising to maintain production levels. Longbridge workers and the public alike were, quite simply, conned.

New Labour are happy to preside over a collapse of British manufacturing quite as bad as the jobs massacre of the Thatcher years. As a direct result, together with the surge in imports to record levels, Britain's visible trade deficit in April alone was £2.5 billion, and the deficit this year is forecast to top £25 billion.

The income from 'invisible' exports such as financial services and profits made by foreign investments goes some way to closing the financial gap and to keeping City of London investors happy and prosperous, but precious little of this wealth trickles down to people in run-down estates in the depressed old industrial areas. From Cornwall to Tyneside to Tower Hamlets, Bolton to the Black Country, New Labour = Old Poverty.

STRAW'S LATEST IMMIGRATION SWINDLE

HEADLINES saying that the Labour government intends to expel 57,000 illegal immigrants a year lessened the pressure on Home Secretary Jack Straw early in June.

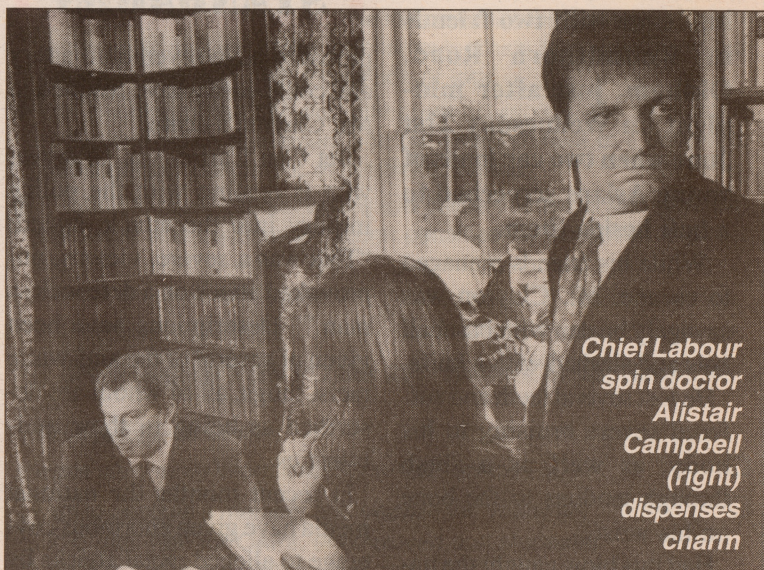

What the media did not reveal is that the plans, announced by Immigration Service Director Ian Boon to a blaze of publicity, had not been agreed by the Government. When challenged the Home Office backtracked saying that Treasury approval had to be obtained for the plans. During a stormy meeting in Bedfordshire, at which local people objected to a new detention centre which will be opened at Thurleigh, Boon announced what was merely a civil service proposal unapproved by ministers.

In accordance with Labour's usual duplicitous tactics intended to mislead voters, what appears to have happened is that spin doctor engineered headlines were sought for yet another bogus 'immigration crackdown' intended to mislead angry voters into thinking that immigration is seriously being tackled. In the small print, the real story is that no serious action has been agreed.

● The Government intends to change the law to allow into Britain nearly all foreign criminals including child pornographers, pimps and fraudsters.

At present, those convicted of offences which would have attracted a 12-month prison sentence in Britain. This led to fury after rapist Mike Tyson (sorry successful young businessman Tyson) was allowed into the UK for a fight despite being sentenced to six years. He was recently

Labour's answer to the row over foreign criminals entering Britain is to change the rules - anyone who has served less than ten years will now be allowed in! A Government paper confirms that people jailed for child pornography, child abduction, pimping, and fraud will now all have the right to enter our country.

GUARDSMAN IS MURDERED

KILLED: Lance Corporal Michael Wall from Pwlheli

WELSH GUARDSMAN
Lance Corporal Michael Wall was murdered last month while celebrating his first wedding anniversary.

The 24-year-old soldier was killed outside a public house in Aylesbury, Bucks. Zimbabwean Emmanuel Jerome Mbewe, 29, has been arrested and charged with murder.

Michael had served in the Guards for nine years and was an instructor well-known for his pleasant manner and reliability. The murder of Michael Wall has received no national coverage. If a black soldier had been murdered in similar circumstances, and the arrest had been made of a white man, would the story have been ignored by the national media? Time and again front page coverage is given when non-whites are attacked or murdered, but similar incidents are ignored when the victims are white.

- Luton police have branded as a 'terrible racist attack' the vicious beating of a white woman outreach worker dealing with Asians and blacks. The 21-year-old was set on by three Asians who emerged from a taxi. They kicked her in the stomach and punched her in the face breaking her jaw. The victim had to have metal plates fitted to her face by surgeons.

- In the latest disturbances involving 'asylum seekers' shoppers were forced to flee when Kosovans fought with swords in Swindon Town Centre. Seven arrests were made after one man's face was half removed, and another stabbed in the stomach among the injuries. In Newcastle 80 'asylum seekers' rioted outside a hostel holding 200. Dozens of windows were smashed at the former nursing home paid for by Kent ratepayers. Police were forced to call in reinforcements after the rioting began following a dispute with staff.

Zimbabwe whites victims of liberal hypocrisy

.... says guest US columnist Sam Francis

IF YOU READ the New York Times last week, you may well know all about the ethnic tensions that mar the Pacific paradise of Fiji, where the native islanders are locked in a bitter and somewhat violent conflict with Indians and other foreign newcomers to the country.

All most interesting, no doubt, and well worth the front-page attention the Times awarded the story. But what you probably don't know about from reading the Times is that halfway around the world, a somewhat more important ethnic conflict is also about to explode - namely, the economic expropriation of and possible outright genocide against the white farmers of Zimbabwe by its demagogic black leader and his followers.

For the last several months, the American press has kept this story well in its back pages, and even now barely bothers to report on it at all.

The most recent twist in the story is that Zimbabwean Prime Minister, Robert Mugabe, who for months has been encouraging mobs of black marauders to seize white-owned farms in his country, has now formally announced the outright seizure of 804 white-owned farms amounting to some 5.2 million acres of land. Mugabe offers no compensation to the farmers, and banks owed debts by them will now lose some $300 million because of the seizures. The mobs that have been attacking and seizing white land for the last few months (at least five ler" announced that the land about to be grabbed would be divvied up "first come, first served," and Mugabe himself has denounced the white farmers as "enemies."

The white land seizure, virtually all economists are predicting, will wreck what remains of the coun-farmers have been murdered) are led by a character known as Chenjerai Hunzvi, who has chosen to dub himself "Hitler" Hunzvi.

He has met with the maximum leader himself and has yet to be bridled. Last week, good ol' "Hittry's agriculture. As Reuters reported last week, "Economists predict bread shortages within six months ... unless the government finds money to import an extra 100,000 tons of wheat."

Maybe Mugabe can simply steal the money like he's now stealing the land. Certainly no one in the West would seem likely to object.

What the Mugabe regime is doing is probably the most blatant and brutal smashing of "human rights" in southern Africa in years, even in a continent notorious for brutality.

Yet not only does the New York Times virtually ignore the story, but hardly any American newspapers gave it any prominence, if they mentioned it at all. Nor has the Zimbabwean land theft entered the consciousness of most American opinion commentators, right or left.

Conservatives had a good deal to say about Rhodesia, as Zimbabwe was known until 1980, back when the communists were backing Mugabe's terrorists when the government was run by whites. But in recent weeks, the right has been virtually silent about the mass violation of property rights and the looming threat of government attacks on life and liberty.

Not only have the media been silent about Zimbabwe but also the Clinton administration, the zealous guardian of human rights everywhere from Kosovo to East Timor, has had hardly a word to say about Mugabe's onslaught.

Since helping Africa - against oppressive white regimes, against AIDS, against poverty - is always high on the liberal globalist agenda, it's a bit peculiar that there's so much silence on the Mugabe horrors. But the reason is really not so hard to identify. "Human rights" are fine when you're trying to weaken such anti-communist leaders as Chile's General Augusto Pinochet, or such bastions of white oligarchy as Rhodesia and South Africa in the days of white minority rule.

That, you see, is the real purpose of "human rights" - not the institutionalization of genuine and reciprocal respect for the rights of all human beings, but rather the politically, ideologically and racially selective institutionalization of rights for some people but not others.

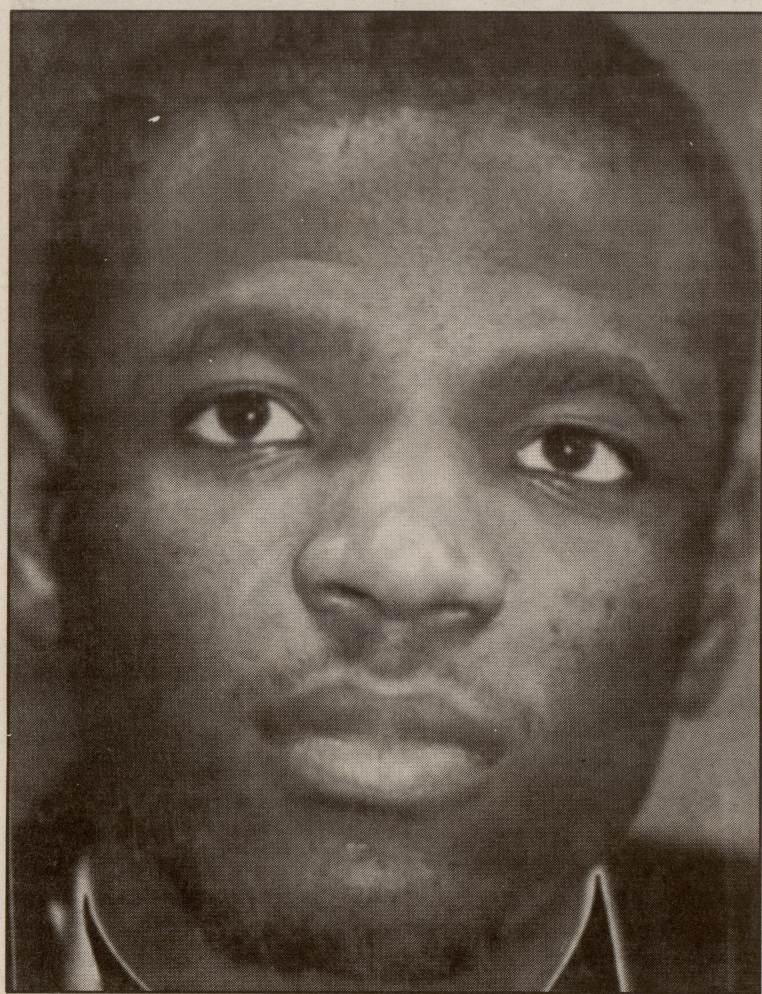

It's therefore likely that the situation in Zimbabwe is going to get a lot worse before it gets any better. So far, hardly anyone outside Zimbabwe has sent its leader any signal that either his vicious language about the whites, his attacks on land ownership or even the fact of actual murder, and the not-so-subtle hints of more murder to come will instigate official American objections, or prompt the United Nations to intervene.

That sort of thing is perfectly proper for General Pinochet or Austria's Jorg Haider, but it just doesn't apply to pioneers of democratic and racial progress like Mugabe.

If the whites of Zimbabwe want to survive, they'd better forget about relying on the cant of "human rights" and "racial tolerance" which their Western liberal cousins love to spout, and look for help somewhere else.

'ANTI-RACIST' POLICEMAN "RUINED MY LIFE" SAYS WPC

DUWAYNE BROOKS: Stephen Lawrence investigation is "public relations"

A LONDON WPC has accused one of the most senior officers in the Metropolitan Police, Deputy Assistant Commissioner John Grieve, of ruining her life.

Sarah Locker was given an astonishing £1 million damages after the Metropolitan Police refused to put her former boss, DAC Grieve (pictured right), into the witness box following her claim for negligence and breach of contract against the police. The police decided to settle out of court 24 hours before the case was due to be heard in the High Court. Mrs Locker, who is of Turkish origin, won damages against the police in 1993 for harassment. It was promised that Grieve would help her back to work. She now says that he "ruined her life", and that she lost "the job I loved". A police spokesman claimed that the force had a good case, but that it was not in the interests of the Met to have a trial of Mrs Locker's case. Former head of the Law Society, Martin Mears, says that the Met did not want Grieve to be exposed to cross-examination, and that it was not a sufficient reason to pay out £1 million. It has since been claimed that Mrs Locker was poor at policing and complained continuously. Why then did the police not defend the case in order to save public money being dispensed on the basis of an exaggerated claim?

In a bizarre recent article by him published in the Daily Telegraph DAC Grieve described the police as 'institutionally racist', wallowing in guilt and calling for more measures of the kind that have caused law and order to collapse in the capital.

Grieve has also been condemned by Duwayne Brooks (pictured left), who was with Stephen Lawrence when he was murdered in South London in 1993.

Mr Brooks says that Scotland Yard's latest enquiry into the murder for which no one has been convicted, headed by DAC Grieve, is "just public relations".

He described Grieve (pictured right) as "a good talker and that's why they put him on TV". The murder of Stephen Lawrence, and the failure to bring anyone to justice for the crime, has been shamelessly exploited by the media and Government as a weapon to attack white people, generating fury among much of the public. Worse, as Duwayne Brooks now says, it has been exploited to make money.

DAC Grieve has already provoked public outrage recently as a result of his close association with convicted burglar Gerry Gable, publisher of the anti-white hate magazine Searchlight, who was appointed by Grieve to serve on his quasi-political race panel, the 'Independent Advisory Group'.

Last year, an official report slammed the actions of the top secret SO11 Criminal Intelligence Branch which Grieve headed.

The massive report, compiled by Hampshire Chief Constable Sir John Hoddinott, slated recruitment of Jamaican 'Yardie' gangsters by Grieve's unit. Delroy Denton, 38, believed to have murdered seven women in Jamaica, also murdered a mother-of-two in London while on the police payroll. He was jailed for life in 1996 for the killing of Marcia Dawes, 23, who he raped before being stabbed 18 times. Another of Grieve's recruits as an informant, Eaton Green, 28, was sent to prison for six years after a shooting in Nottingham.

• The Metropolitan Police's new drive against rocketing street crime (robbery increased 36% last year) has been attacked by black agitator Lee Jasper who was accused of inciting the last Brixton riot. Jasper was recently appointed by the new mayor of London, Red Ken Livingstone, as his 'race adviser'. Jasper has now suffered a setback after being rejected for membership of London's police authority by other members. Greater London Assembly members also rejected John Sentamu the Bishop of Stepney, who was a member of the notorious panel which heard the Macpherson enquiry into the murder of Stephen Lawrence. The panel allowed the hearings to deteriorate into a circus in which police officers were barracked and humiliated into groveling confessions of 'racism'. The enquiry became the modern equivalent of a mediaeval witch trial.

In fifty years, what was a largely homogeneous European Anglo-Celtic nation has been turned into what is officially called a 'multi-racial society' - a thing neither wanted nor asked for by the host population.

What for left-liberal thinkers is a wonderful achievement has been brought about by exploiting the sense of decency, fair play and tolerance - things proverbially English - and, second, by propaganda, backed by law and education, making people ashamed, even frightened to acknowledge the most obvious difference between races.

The 'ordinary people', the 'silent majority' - there are so many names for official sneering - seem to be waiting in a daze, helpless and hypnotised. They do not think of what may be in store for them, the total multicultural One World

State where all must conform.

He has called for abolition of the monarchy and its replacement with "a presidential head of state". No doubt it will not take long for Ken Livingstone to decide who this president shall be. Sierra Leone, like Liberia, had once been a hopeful experiment. One of its first governors, Sir Charles McCarthy, had churches and schools built. By the late 1860s, a higher proportion of the population of Sierra Leone had been to school than had that of England. By the late 19th century, Sierra Leone had doctors, lawyers and newspaper editors who were highly educated and sophisticated. It had the first free press in Africa. Within a few years of independence in 1960, Sierra Leone's corruption and dilapidation were the equal of any African country.

PROVE YOU'RE NOT RACIST!

New Euro Madness

THE PUPPET European Parliament in Strasbourg has voted for new laws under which employers accused of racial discrimination will have to 'prove they are not racist' at Industrial Tribunal hearings.

Exultant Labour MEP Richard Howitt (pictured right), who was behind the move, described the latest loony Euro law as the "biggest breakthrough for race relations in thirty years".

The excuse used for the new totalitarian laws was said by supporters to be the success of Jorg Haider and the Freedom Party in Austria.

Thus, those who falsely accuse Haider of wanting to see fascist government are doing precisely what they say they object to in disposing of the most basic principle of justice - the presumption of innocence.

The Labour government at first said it was concerned about the proposals to allay public concern, but later admitted it intended to implement them.

Companies will be forced to set up witch hunts within their businesses in an attempt to protect themselves against the flood of false claims which will be made to obtain massive payouts.

The fascist Eurolaw will, perversely, make employers frightened to take on non-whites for fear of prosecution, as well as provoking massive white resentment since terrified tribunals and courts will be even more reluctant than at present to go against anyone non-white who brings a claim against a white person.

The growing avalanche of race laws are comparable to those introduced by the Nazis shortly after taking power. Many white people simply do not yet understand what is planned.

● A Sheffield University study has shown that New Labour has lost 50,000 members since the 1997 General Election as disillusionment grows with its poor performance in government. Labour also fiddled its membership figures for years by including lapsed members in the total. Before the election Labour was offering membership for £1 to boost its numbers.

MACHINE GUN ATTACK ON KID'S PLAYGROUND

AN UNNAMED man is critically ill in hospital after being shot when a South London children's playground was raked with machine gun fire in broad daylight.

Dozens of bullets were fired from what police believe was an Ingram sub-machine gun (pictured), hitting the victim five times as he tried to escape the attack at the playground in Wyck Gardens, Brixton.

The Ingram gun can fire 30

Ingram Mac 10 sub-machine gun shots in 1.5 seconds, and can be purchased abroad for £500.

Few people were in the playground at the time or police say the indiscriminate fire could have led to a massacre. The injured man reeled across a road and was later taken away by an ambulance.

Last year a man was shot at another playground in the same heavily ethnic area at Pulross Road, Stockwell.

TEXTILE INDUSTRY IN CRISIS

THE CRISIS in the car industry, with both Longbridge and Dagenham threatened with closure, has eclipsed in the news another manufacturing crisis - in the textile industry.

Textile production employs 300,000 people and is the eighth biggest manufacturing industry in Britain.

Yet 41,000 jobs were lost last year, and another 25,000 are expected to be lost this year as firms move production abroad. Marks & Spencer, for example, moved its trouser-making operation to Morocco a year ago. An M&S supplier in South Wales has also closed with the loss of 4,500 jobs.

When the same supplier, Baird, closed a plant in Stirlingshire the local MP was never seen. Most of the losses are jobs filled by women in traditionally Labour areas already suffering high unemployment. Yet Labour has ignored the problem not even offering the limited help given to victims of contraction in the car and farming industries.

As with car manufacture, textile closures are a result of the mad policy of exporting jobs without any alternative employment often being available at all, or the replacement work being pitifully badly paid and unskilled. Often work is only available to those who have a car and can travel long distances to work. British workers are regarded by Labour as voting fodder, supposed to believe that it cares about ordinary workers while millions are being steadily ejected from our society in the mad rush to internationalisation of the economy.

THIRD WORLD 'NURSES' CON

HOSPITAL TRUSTS across Britain have found yet another way to hold down the wages of student nurses - bringing in cheap labour trainees from the Third World.

Salisbury District Hospital, for example, has just taken on no fewer than twenty young Filipinos, with twenty more due to reading between the lines. Readers who bothered to do this might just have found out that the root cause of the problem is the refusal of Health Trusts to pay a living wage to British student nurses, who are forced to live on the poverty line by tiny bursaries which work out at just £2.60 per hour. And, for all the happy head-experienced staff are leaving in droves. Nursing union leaders, although as politically correct as all bureaucrats have to be these days, have criticised the trend. According to Unison, if the 30 per cent of British student nurses who are forced to drop out of their courses because of financial hardship were retained, re-arrive shortly. The story was turned into an absurd front page story about "The Flying Angels" by the Western Daily Press, which illustrated the wonders of multiracialism and the globalised economy by telling its readers how "Third World nurses rescue western wards." The truth, however, could be established by checking the small print and lines about foreign nurses saving the NHS, the truth is that they are only trainees. The Western Daily Press, like all the other newspaper spin doctors for multiracialism, doesn't try to explain how on earth newly recruited students, many of whom speak virtually no English, are going to help 'save' a Health Service where wages and morale are so low that recruitment would soar and the staffing crisis would end.

That, however, would require commonsense, preparedness to think about things other than short-term profit, willingness to pay our own workers a decent wage, and determination to put the British people first - a very rare combination in Tory Blair's politically correct madhouse.

Anti-EU car stickers. These 5"x3½" window and bumper stickers come in three colours (white, yellow and blue) for only £1 plus 20p p&p. State 'window' or 'bumper' and send six 2nd class stamps or cheques/POs for £1.20 payable to 'BNP' to: PO Box 1032, Ilford, Essex, IG1 1DY.

T-SHIRTS

North West London BNP are proud to be able to bring two great T-shirts which can be worn anywhere. One — 'St. George for England' is clearly designed for just one of Britain's four nations and very good it is too; but the other — 'United We Stand' captures the very essence of British Nationalism and cannot be recommended too highly.

Only available at present in Xtra Large size, the T-shirts are in full colour and cost £8 including p&p.

Make cheques/POs payable to 'North West Trading' and send to PO. Box 128, Pinner, Middlesex HA5 1XT

Left: Albanian immigrants pour off a freighter into Italy. Once there, EU rules make it easy for them to join the flood of immigrants and bogus 'asylum seekers' pouring into Britain. It's not a question of race, it's a question of space.

DO YOU THINK

that Britain should stop taking in, housing, feeding and caring for thousands of 'asylum seekers' at a time when homelessness and hospital waiting lists are steadily rising?

YES/NO

that local councils should start putting native-born British people to the front of the housing queue for a change?

YES/NO

that the Home Secretary is wrong to give an extra 30,000 'asylum seekers' the right to stay in Britain just because the authorities haven't been able to investigate the often bogus claims as to why they should be allowed in?

YES/NO

that we should stop building new houses on green field sites to make room for 150,000 extra immigrants every year?

YES/NO

that the politicians were wrong to allow mass immigration to change the face of our country, without ever even asking if we wanted it?

YES/NO

'Yes' every time? That's what we think too. That's why we're building the British National Party, and why you should join our campaign to put the British people first, before bogus asylum seekers and before new immigrants... before it's too late.

Young BNP

All party members from the age of 14 - 24 need to join the Young BNP.

Send a photocopy or hardcopy (it will be returned) of your party membership card and your details (name and address etc) to PO Box 28, Erith, DA8 2ZN. For those reading this who aren't members of the party, membership is open to those of British or kindred European descent, above the age of 14, and not over 24. Membership subs are £20 (£10 students).

All members receive monthly Members' Bulletins.

THE BNP AND RACE

The BNP is best known for its policy on race and immigration. The BNP opposes immigration into the UK from whatever its source. For forty years this immigration has primarily been coloured. But it is not an issue of colour since the party is equally opposed to immigration from Albania and Eastern Europe. The BNP is not a 'racial supremacy' party. The BNP does not claim that any one race is superior to any other, simply that they are different. The party merely wishes to preserve those differences which make up the rich tapestry of human kind.

Neither has the BNP any connection with 'race hate'. Indeed it is the multi-racialists who are the haters since it is BNP Chairman Nick Griffin meets with Black nationalists. It's not a matter of 'hate'. All we want is mutual separation bringing the END of racism and hatred.

they who are determined to destroy all cultures and all races to achieve a multi-racial mish-mash. To protect and preserve the racial and cultural integrity of the British people — and of others too, the party believes in separation. Only in a Black society will Black kids find true Black role models.

Only in a Muslim society will Muslims find their religion free from Western influence.

All peoples need a homeland. The British too need a homeland. Nor are the BNP 'racist'. Indeed, the BNP are resisting the racist colonisation of Britain in which the native people of Britain are having their culture suppressed, their land colonised and are being discriminated against on racial grounds.

To sum up, the BNP is fighting for the very right to exist of not just the British, but of all peoples.

ITS NOT A MATTER OF HATE!

• The multiracists who are trying to destroy the identity of Britain often say that anyone who opposes mass immigration and forced multiculturalism is a 'bigot' or a 'hater'. This is nonsense!

The truth is that the real bigots are the people who are so hostile to the British that they've turned us into second-class citizens in our own country. And the real race haters are the people who want to mix up and destroy all the separate races and cultures so that international big business can make maximum profits in a single, globalised, world market.

Many non-whites, particularly Black separatists and Muslims, completely agree with the British National Party in rejecting enforced multiculturalism. More and more of the immigrants who came here during the 1950s and 1960s are realising that they were tricked into coming here as cheap labour for Tory businessmen and cheap votes for Labour councillors, and that Britain really doesn't suit them — which is why thousands of West Indians in particular are now returning home. Labour Home Office spokesman Mike O'Brien recently warned on Radio Five that, if the multiracial experiment failed, "our children, black and white alike, will pay a heavy price."

Being politically active in local communities in many of the most heavily multiracial areas of Britain, the BNP knows that the multiracial experiment has already failed. This is why we want to bring it to an end, and to provide the financial assistance needed to enable the very large numbers of non-whites who want to return to their lands of ethnic origin to do so. Our Homeward Bound offer has led to cooperation between BNP activists and black people who want to leave Britain, and we are always very happy to work with them.

White rights activists call for investigation of New York City hate rape rampage

AS AN EXAMPLE of 'multiculturalism' in action, a Puerto Rican Festival held in New York's Central Park early in June wasn't exactly a success. In fact, there were so many attacks and sexual assaults on non-Puerto Rican women — European tourists as well as white Americans — that even the mainstream media covered the story.

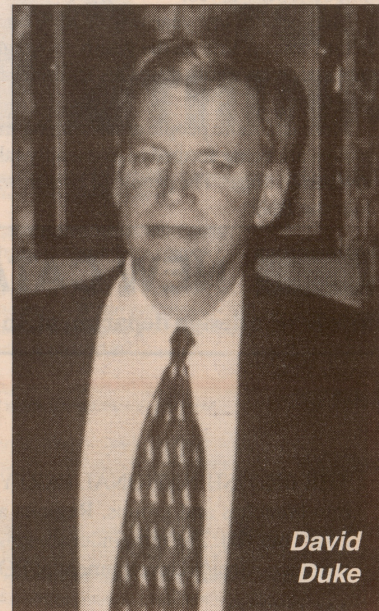

Typically enough, however, the American media played down the disgusting behaviour of the mobs who rampaged through Central Park. While usually noisy left-wing feminists also turned a blind eye to the wrongdoings of their 'minority' allies, the National Organisation For European American Rights (N.O.F.E.A.R.) went on a publicity offensive.

Vincent Edwards, N.O.F.E.A.R. National Community Relations Director, stationed in New York City, issued the following statement:

"These attacks are the result of a double standard by the City of New York in dealing with minorities. While events like the St. Patrick's Day parade are strictly regulated, police are forced to ignore criminal behavior at minority festivals out of fear of being labelled 'racists'. This unspoken double-standard places innocent European Americans and our police in danger, and encourages violent criminal behavior. We call on city officials to conduct a full investigation of written and unspoken policies and procedures that may have led to Sunday's events to determine whether political correctness may have been to blame".

In the wake of a rash of racially motivated crimes against European Americans, including similar sexual attacks against European American women during Black Spring Break festivities this year, the latest rampage has understandably led many to ask why the racial motivation behind these attacks receives little attention, while attacks against minorities become national news stories.

David Duke

N.O.F.E.A.R. was founded late last year by the controversial but popular American white rights leader David Duke. Mr. Duke has spoken at meetings of the American Friends of the BNP.

Letters

Write to: The Editor, Voice of Freedom, PO Box 1032, Ilford, Essex IG1 1DY

Sir - During November last year a Northampton man named Albert Bowers was brutally mugged as he walked home from a public house. He was so badly beaten that two weeks later he died of a blood clot.

Despite the fact that the two non-white muggers have never been caught I have not seen any national newspaper run with this story.

It appears that a white life is worth a lot less than a black one.

Matthew Jackson, Northants BNP

Sir - Television has sunk to new lows.

I recently flicked through the channels on Sky Digital and came across the most vile channel I have ever watched. It was filled with disturbing characters including drug addicts, IRA sympathisers, fraudsters, communists and war criminals.

The list goes on and on. I am, of course, referring to the BBC's coverage of Parliament.

I think the 9pm cut off for programmes unsuitable for children would be appropriate in combatting horrific scenes like these.

David Hamman, Hull

Sir - I wrote to the BNP recently asking for information about the party. I enjoyed Voice of Freedom. It addresses the problems we face in Britain today in a no nonsense manner. I and many friends were very impressed with the content and amazed by some of the facts.

May I congratulate you and forward my subscription.

Karen Bennett, Dartford

Sir - If further proof were needed that the BNP is moving ahead in recruitment I give the following example.

During April, the Fenland group was leafletting a local road when a lady emerged from her house with a completed membership form and fee and joined on the spot!

It transpired that the lady was an ex-Labour activist who "wished them in hell". She took 200 asylum seeker leaflets and distributed them in the ward where she previously helped Labour.

I urge all members to increase the output of leaflets. There has never been a better time to take advantage of a situation where nationalist feeling is running so high.

Steve Monroe, Co-organiser Fenland BNP

Sir - Just outside Liverpool is a place called Maghull. 'Asylum seekers' are stripping the fields of crops and selling them in Kirkby Market. Local traders are mad about it.

AJW, Liverpool

Sir - There has recently been a steady influx of immigrants here. People seemed reticent about it until I wrote to the local paper. I included the address of the BNP's web site in my letter.

Enough interest has been generated to justify the existence of a local BNP branch. You can see the change in people's faces so clearly.

Mr G Jewitt, Grimsby

Sir - I was going to vote for Ken Livingstone in the recent London elections.

When the BNP's handout came through the door it was a great relief. You have my total support and deep thanks.

We are witnessing the death of our nation and are expected to sleep through it.

Constanze, London

Sir - Local radio in the West Midlands was dominated recently by the possible closure of Rover.

During a ring-in programme a caller came on and said he had voted Labour all his life as the party of the working class.

He then said he'd never vote Labour again, that only the BNP defended the working class, and urged listeners to vote BNP in the local elections. Not one of the following callers condemned him. Maybe people are waking up to the Lib/Lab/Con trick.

Mrs J Reed, Birmingham

Sir - I was driving through Newcastle when I saw a sign saying Black Housing Association.

That brought to mind a TV programme about Steven Lawrence during which a representative of the Federation of Black Police Officers was interviewed. How do they get away with it?

One can imagine the response if a White Housing Association office was opened or if white policemen started up a Federation of White Police Officers.

How do the ethnic minorities get away with reverse discrimination? Could they be reported to the Commission for Racial Equality?

Mr R Barnes, Newcastle-on-Tyne

Sir - On Radio Four's You and Yours a discussion took place about the Internet.

The BBC said that "objectionable" web sites like those of the BNP should be restricted. She implied that a way should be found to prevent such sites operating, linking them with pornographic web sites.

I thought the BBC was supposed to remain impartial regarding political parties.

Mr F Tanner, Bristol

Sir - I enclose my subscription to Voice of Freedom and a newspaper cutting about Waltham Forest's 'Gay Games'. Will events include 'Throwing the Handbag' and Tossing the Lipstick? You could not invent it. If you put this in a novel a few years ago you would be regarded as sick or mad.

Mr R May, Essex

Sir - How much longer do we have to put up with anti-white racism?

I was born and bred in Tooting, but like so many of my friends I have moved out.

Mr M Gilligan, Mitcham

Sir - I read the story about the hotel owner being accused of racism merely for flying the English flag and telling English people to be proud of their heritage.

I thought that was absolutely the most ridiculous thing I've ever heard. Even my mother, who has no idea what's happening in England (we're Americans), thought it was outrageously stupid.

What do they expect? For him to fly the Pakistani flag? It's England, for crying out loud! It has nothing to do with racism.

I think it's about time for the British people to wake up, and discover their rich, glorious heritage. Surely something to be proud of.

Amber, USA

FRANCE MOVES RIGHT

THE LIBERAL media has made much during the last year or two of the tragic split between Jean-Marie Le Pen (pictured) and supporters of his former colleague in the Front National, Bruno Megret.

As Le Monde admitted recently, despite the split, the broad sweep of views expressed by the French right has continued to gain public support.

The left-wing newspaper described the change in public opinion as 'spectacular'.

One of the standard techniques used against the French patriotic movement is the ancient liberal line about a 'threat to democracy'. Since, as in Britain, people are reluctant to express their real views on anything right-wing to pollsters, actual figures need to be treated with some considerable suspicion.

What is significant is the rise in the number of those who say that the FN in power would be no threat - up from 27% to 38% during the last year.

Among keen supporters of the left a startling 20% less now say they feel threatened.

Le Monde says that the raising of a taboo is taking place.

When right-wing ideas are put to people in the abstract, so that the FN is not directly mentioned, three-quarters think that French values are not being supported.

Three out of five say there are too many immigrants, and nearly 50% that they no longer feel at home in France.

How long before the dreadful truth has to be admitted by the French media? The FN has won the argument, even if it does receive public credit from the thought controllers.

The politically correct media have complained for years that Front National sympathisers riddle unions, the police, schools and the church. The French media veer between claiming that the 'right is finished' at every set back it suffers, and hysterical admissions to the contrary. A favourite FN cartoon shows a television spokesman holding a graph indicating support the wrong way round, while confidently telling viewers "Vote for right collapses".

JEAN-MARIE LE PEN: Ideas grow in influence

● White South African farmers face possible confiscation of their land following threats by the director-general of the land affairs ministry, Mr Mayende.

Fears are spreading that the confiscation of white property currently taking place in Zimbabwe will soon be copied further south by extremists pressing for President Mugabe's land grab to be extended into South Africa.

The South African government had promised that land invasions would not be permitted, but are now hedging by saying that the Government did not have the money to buy land, blaming white farmers for the price.

Opposition MP Stuart Farrow says that the Government has sufficient land already in its hands on which to settle people.

● Israel has so polluted its water with industrial waste in only 50 years that fish can only live in most of the rivers for a few minutes.

The disastrous situation came to light after 30 members of the equivalent of Britain's Special Boat Squadron were found to be fighting cancer caused by training in the Kishon River. One of the victims, Lt Col Yuval Tamir, 42, says: "We've poisoned the Promised Land. We are slaves to money".

In Tel Aviv, two Australians died after falling into the river in its central park, and swallowing poisoned water.

The Israelis are now trying to ensure that West Bank Palestinians get only areas useless for wells in any land settlement.

In Brief.....

NEW LABOUR NEW CREDIT RISK

New Labour is being pursued by debt collectors and taken to court because of late and unpaid bills. Blair's spin operation is now placed in the maximum risk category by credit rating agencies, and had a county court judgement registered against it recently for a £500 bill.

Labour now has a £6 million overdraft, collapsing membership, and a decline in big donors. It passed a new law in 1998 to make firms settle their debts in a reasonable time, but does not do so itself.

DEATH OF BIG BROTHER

Erich Mielke, the boss of the Stasi, the East German communist secret police, has died.

Mielke, who was often described as the living embodiment of George Orwell's Big Brother, terrorised and murdered East Germans for over 30 years using the 85,000 thugs he controlled. He was jailed for murdering two policemen in 1993 but released shortly afterwards owing to ill-health.

BARBIE SHOCK

The latest race row to hit the United States follows Asian fury that the Barbie doll is only manufactured by Mattel in white, black and Latino versions.

BRIBERY AND THREATS

Nearly half of British parents admit to using bribery and threats in an attempt to make their children eat their greens says an opinion poll.

Gestapo tactics used by parents include promising an increase in pocket money, forcing children to remain at the table until at least some greens are consumed, and the dreadful 'no pudding' threat. 11% of parents have given up in despair.

Teams of scientists have tried and failed to solve the greens problem despite massive research.

Sunderland BNP members hard at work on the campaign trail!

26.5% vote for cause in London's East End

PARTY STALWART Michael Davidson scored over a quarter of the vote in London's East End, when he stood for the board of New Deal Communities (NDC), a development corporation set up by the Government to pour cash into deprived areas.

Michael, who won huge votes for the party in Newham several years ago, scored 26.5% of the vote. The two winners in the poll for the Woodlands area of the West Ham & Plaistow NDC scored 31.3% and 33.2%, so he came only a few votes short of winning a seat.

Party candidates were not permitted to stand for the board member positions, but Michael is very well known in the area, and voters in the postal ballot knew who they were voting for.

Candidates were allowed to submit an electoral address which was distributed by the local council. Michael's, as with the other candidates, could not mention a party but made clear where he stood on the issues. The result once again indicated the nationalist potential.

Northants fights village influx of 'asylum seekers'

NORTHANTS BNP responded recently to a local pensioner, who asked the party for help in fighting a massive new 'asylum seekers' centre to be built between the villages of Thurleigh, Milton Earnest, and Bletsoe.

The plan, for 'secure' accommodation to house an incredible 1000 immigrants in a rural area, has infuriated residents.

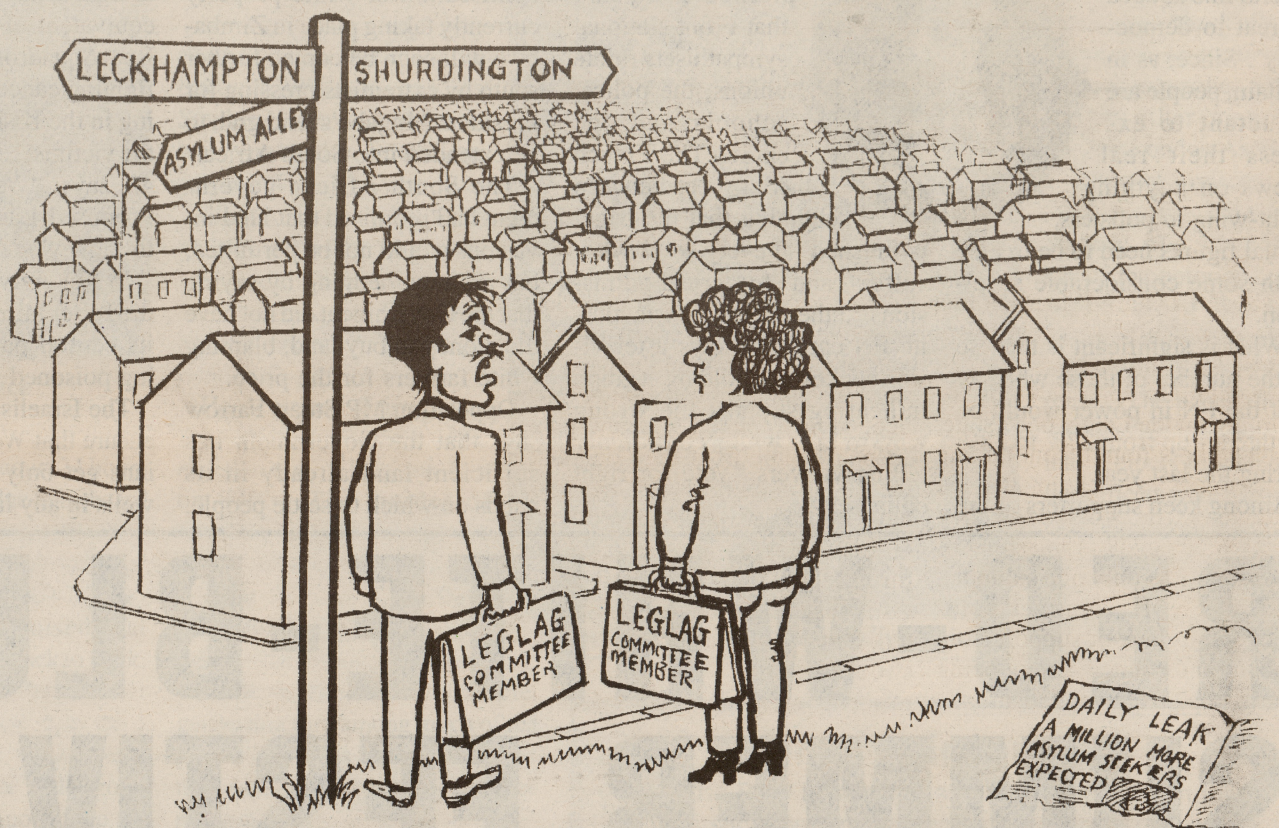

A large group of party activists from the southern part of the county, and some Bedfordshire members, visited all three villages with the popular 'Do you think' leaflet.

By a happy chance, there was a meeting between Home Office immigration officials and angry residents the very same evening that the BNP members were out and about in the villages mass distributing the party message.

When the local people returned home they would have been met with our 'Do you think' leaflet on their doorsteps!

Well done Northants!

GLOUCESTERSHIRE BNP CAMPAIGN CARTOON

"Yes it's a shame we had to end up losing all that lovely countryside, but it was the price we had to pay for protecting our Political Correctness. I'd rather die than lose that, wouldn't you?"

MOVING FORWARD!

The British National Party recently stood in May's Greater London Assembly elections, winning a really excellent result. Across East London nearly 9% of electors voted BNP!

Now the party's huge potential has again been shown in the local election result in Bexley reviewed on page 12. We won more than a quarter of the vote and gained second place despite never having campaigned in the area before! We have proved we can beat the old parties despite the support they get from the media. The same opportunities are there for the taking all over the country - all it needs is the resources to take advantage of them. Fighting elections costs money! There is no fluke about our results. The BNP is increasingly known and supported by the public.

We also need to deal with the huge number of enquiries we are receiving from the public, and turn them into new members and regular supporters. That also costs money!

All of this leaves the party needing to raise the maximum amount in donations to ensure that we have adequate funds to move forward on the back of massive exposure for the patriotic cause.

That means we need the help of new and regular readers of Freedom. Even if you are reading this in a town or city hundreds of miles from London, where the BNP did not stand for election, you'll understand that a good showing by the British National Party in our capital city and in the local polls has given us a tremendous boost across the whole of the country.

If this is the first time you've read anything from the British National Party, the chances are that you're delighted at last to find a party that is prepared to stand up and say out loud the things you've been thinking for so long.

But just because more and more people like you are in agreement with us isn't going to help us save Britain. Only organised political work will change anything. Our crusade to do just that needs more members, more activists, and more money.

We hope that you're already ready to join the growing number of decent Britons working to build the British National Party, but even if you aren't quite ready to commit yourself to being active, you can choose to do your bit in confidence by sending a donation towards our post-election £3,000 Moving Forward Fund.

Please make cheques/POs payable to 'British National Party' and send to PO Box 25352, London NW5 2FE.

Please note that donations of less than £10 will only be acknowledged if an SAE is provided. The more you donate, the more we can do! Thank you.

I enclose £ to help the BNP's good work.

Ulster publicity boost for party in province

SOME of the best newspaper coverage for the BNP in many years has been won by Ulster organiser Alan Moore.

The coverage, in the Irish News, not only filled part of the front page, but also most of the newspaper's comment and opinion page (see right). Better yet, the party's new magazine, Identity, was given a big plug.

Alan Moore gave a marathon three hour interview to the paper, before the articles appeared - the journalist saying that the BNP's position was not what he had expected.

Alan hit out on behalf of the party against the bogus character of Irish republicanism, which he said had changed from nationalist into becoming internationalist over several generations. It now stood for the erosion of Irish identity. The unionist parties too now offered nothing to young people. The BNP supported the rights of all peoples to retain their culture and identity, and was not racist. It was a very different party from several years ago, and since the party chairmanship had been taken by Nick Griffin.

The entire coverage was remarkably professional and fair to the BNP. It is almost unknown for reporters from the mainland to cover the party in anything but blatantly contrived smear pieces.

The response from Sinn Féin a day or two later was to say that the BNP stood for intolerance. From a party which is the mouthpiece of the IRA, while it continues to maim and murder people simply because they are British, while at the same time posing as respectable, that is a difficult position to sustain!

Councillor David Ford of the Alliance then made the ludicrous suggestion that the BNP should not stand in elections because of the deaths of Chinese illegal immigrants in Dover at the hands of people smugglers! If BNP policies were followed that would not have happened in the first place, since no one would pay the smugglers merely to be expelled from Britain.

The BNP hit back by saying that if Ford wanted to allow vast numbers of illegal immigrants into Ireland he should declare it in his election literature.

Mansfield branch fights vandalism

MANSFIELD's BNP branch has been out helping residents plagued by vandalism.

Responding to complaints by locals living on the Ladywood estate, party members found from talking to the resident's association that the situation was far worse than they imagined. The endless smashing of bus shelters was only one example. Residents' representatives complained too of lack of support from the police and council, and of being "under siege" from vandalism.

The local BNP branch then visited residents to ask for signatures on a petition, and to spread the party message. The petition was sent to the police, county council and newspapers.

Local councillors then denounced the BNP for doing the job they should have done themselves (see coverage right). Party organiser Mark Stringfellow told councillors in a letter published in the same newspaper that they had their heads in the sand, should try listening to residents' grievances and then act.

Politicians' anger at BNP 'preying' on local residents

THE BRITISH National Party is active in Mansfield again - provoking a furious response from local politicians.

The far-right BNP has collected signatures from more than 40 residents on the Ladybrook Estate who the party claims are "under siege" from vandals.

FORD FIESTA 1.8LXD Economical yet nippy. N-reg. Run by us without a single breakdown. Midnight blue. VGC. 10 months MOT. £2,900.

SUBARU JUSTY 4x4. Metallic green. Low mileage. One lady owner. L-reg. VGC inside and out. Very economical. We prefer not to sell Japanese cars but years of bad marketing has made British car industry think that no British manufacturer makes a small 4x4, so country nurses, midwives, vets, etc find the sturdy and reliable Justy invaluable. 12 months MOT. £2,200.

ONE IN FOUR pre-owned cars sold in Britain has an insurance history, yet nearly all of them are sold at top prices. So whenever you buy a second-hand car, you risk paying over the top for a vehicle which may well have been an insurance write-off.

While there's nothing wrong with most of them, this means that you might be ripped off by paying more than you should do. But now, Affordable Cars has taken that risk out of buying a pre-owned car. There's no need to wonder about whether one of our cars has an insurance history - because they all have!

That's because we specialise in buying stolen/recovered or lightly vandalised cars from reputable insurance company salvage sales.

Then we fit new locks, sort out the glass and paint damage, give the vehicles a thorough overhaul, have them inspected and MOT'd at an independent garage - then sell them in garage sale condition at less than private sale prices. That's got to be a better deal than buying from someone else and standing a one-in-four chance of buying a salvaged/repair car without knowing it, and paying top whack as a result. And, best of all, because Affordable Cars is run by a co-operative of British National Party members and supporters, the BNP gets a share of the profit from every single sale.

We also provided the decorated loud-speaker vehicles that made such an impact in the party's London election campaign.

So if you want to get real value for money the next time you buy a car, and to help raise money for the BNP at the same time, contact Affordable Cars.

Local election triumph for BNP!

26.2% in Bexley's North End Ward as BNP forces Tories into third place

THE BNP has scored a local election triumph in South-East London - winning more than a quarter of the vote for candidate Colin Smith (pictured right), and beating the Tories into third place! The result, in Bexley's North End Ward, showed what the party can now do using sophisticated electoral tactics.

The party's campaign was masterminded by Eddy Butler - whose team won us the historic victory in Millwall in 1993. The entire ward was databased so that campaign work would focus on voters most likely to support the BNP.

Extensive canvassing by teams of BNP activists preceded distribution of a full-colour election address running to four pages. The BNP had never stood in the ward, which may be regarded as a natural Labour heartland, so the result was all the more creditable, and all the more significant for the future prospects of the party.

Once the result was in, it won national publicity - focusing entirely on the BNP's result - television, radio, and Teletext. Even Jazz FM reported it!

Reporting was mostly neutral, rather than in the usual hysterical and deceitful style used by the media against any organisation which wants the British people to have a future. Big votes make it much more difficult for the 'controlled media' to attack the BNP, since that would mean attacking the large part of the electorate who now support us.

●BNP Organiser Neil Phillips has won a very creditable 8.5% of the local election vote in Etchinghill, Cannock Chase.

Not many years ago, if the BNP won even 5% of the votes in an election it was regarded as a great success. Now we exceed that figure nearly everywhere, with a nationwide average vote of 10.7% in May's local elections.

FULL RESULT

NORTH END WARD, BEXLEY, KENT

BNP candidate Colin Smith

Labour 772 (44.4%)

BNP 456 (26.2%)

Conservative 413 (23.8%)

Liberal Democrat 99 (5.7%)

What we stand for

- A massive expansion of Freedom and Democracy to roll back the erosion of our traditional freedoms and truly reflect the wishes of the people; the adoption of popular referenda & hi-tech direct democracy.
- The establishment of a government that puts British interests first.
- An end to immigration and the scandal of bogus asylum-seekers flooding Britain. The use of the billions now wasted in foreign aid to fund generous 'Homeward Bound' schemes to encourage immigrants to return to their lands of origin.
- British withdrawal from the European Union: trade with Europe where it suits us but no political ties, and no monetary union.
- The use of the £1 million per hour we at present pay the EU to fund the restoration of an effective National Health Service and proactive measures to produce a healthier population in the first place.
- British ownership and control of British industry and resources including the mass media.
- Protection of British jobs and industry by the selective exclusion of foreign manufactured goods from the British market.
- The introduction of tax incentives and other policies designed to ensure that the City finances British industry rather than foreign competitors.
- The regeneration of British farming, with the object of achieving the maximum self-sufficiency in food; also the restoration of the fishing industry by protection of our traditional fishing grounds.
- A healthy environment for a healthy people — the protection of our countryside; a ban on greenfield-site house building except in cases of genuine local need; an end to field trials of genetically modified crops.
- A crack-down on crime and tougher treatment of criminals, including the return of the death penalty for child killers and terrorists.
- A return to traditional methods of education, with stronger discipline in the classroom and an end to the 'trendy' teaching methods which have failed our children so badly.
- An alternative defence strategy based on the principle of armed neutrality; no British blood should be shed in conflicts which do not involve vital British interests. The restoration of the County Regiment system and reversal of the defence cuts which have weakened our Armed Forces and cost thousands of jobs.
- The crushing of the IRA and other terrorist groups, the termination of the Anglo-Irish agreement and the establishment of a devolved, non-sectarian parliament in Northern Ireland.
- A return to healthy moral values and policies aimed at strengthening the family and community. Tough penalties for corruption in public life.

Then

PROTEST!
VOTE FOR
SMITH

There is to be a by-election in the North End ward of Bexley on Thursday 6th July. Most people are disgusted with the Conservative controlled Council. Why? Because they decided that our local community should be chosen to house all the asylum seekers that are coming into the area. The Tories chose this area because they didn't want asylum seekers living near them and because they have never won this ward and never will. They do not care if they upset you. And yet after causing the problem in the first place, the two-faced Tories have the nerve to be campaigning on the asylum seeker issue in this election! This is your chance to make the council sit up and listen. It is also your chance to give the Labour Government a kick up the backside. After all, they are the ones letting all these so-called refugees into the country in the first place.
